Trading is one of the most important aspects in Adopt Me!, one of the most popular games on Roblox. While playing the game, you will get the chance to trade with other players to find your perfect pet. If you want to start trading but don't know where to start, we are here to help. In this guide, we are going to take a look at how to trade, as well as a tier list for pets. It's important to remember that pet values can change, depending on egg availability and special events. First, let's take a look at the basics for trading. How To Trade Thankfully, trading is pretty simple. To trade, just approach another player and select the option to trade. This will give the other player an popup menu with the choice to trade or decline the offer. If accepted, a menu will appear, and you will be able to place pets that you want to trade. From this menu, you can trade the other player. Once you have the pets you want to trade, you will need to place them in the squares and confirm the trade. If another player is interested in trading with you, you will see the message above. Accepting this will bring you to the same trading menu as the one that appears if you initiate the trade. Trading Licenses Trading Licenses are required if you want to trade Ultra-Rare and Legendary pets. To get this, you will need to take a small test about being safe while trading; the test is completely free and pretty short. Once you pass, you will get the License, and be able to trade these higher-quality pets. Additionally, you can report scammers with the License. For more information on the process of getting a Trading License, be sure to check out our guide on how to do so. Pet Rarity Each pet has a rarity associated with it, which can be found below. Common Uncommon Rare Ultra-Rare Legendary While looking at the pet in your inventory, you will be able to see their rarity right under their name. In the image above, you can see that the Red Fox is a Rare pet, which is the third tier of rarity. In general, higher-quality pets are 'worth' more. An exception to this would be pets that are no longer available, which can boost their value. In general, Legendary Pets are the most desirable, but some lower-quality pets that are exclusive to limited-time events can be quite valuable as well. Pet Tier List via GamingWithMissy/Twitter There are a lot of pets available in the game, with a wide variety of quality. Below, we are going to take a look at a tier list for the pets in the game. These tiers will include every pet that is in the game, regardless if you can get them or not. Remember, once a pet is in the game, there will be players who can trade it. For example, even though the Lavender Dragon is not available, there are players who will trade it to you in exchange for other pets. This tier list is not officially in the game; we have sorted the tier of pets based on their rarity and availability. Don't forget that the tier of a pet varies person-to-person! If you love a pet on our list that isn't considered high-tier, that's totally okay. To see current pet trades, head over to the Adopt Me! value site to see what players are currently trading. This is the simplest way to trade, but you can also exchange multiple pets and items. For example, if you are in search of an Ultra-Rare pet, but don't have one to give in return, you can instead trade several Rare pets. Alternatively, you can trade with Fly or Ride Potions. These potions are quite valuable; while playing, you may see several people ask for a Fly Potion in the chat. If you have a spare potion, and they have a pet you want, send them a message! Neon And Mega Pet Tiers Neon and Mega Pets are different colored versions of their normal counterpart. To make one Neon pet, you will need four of the normal version, and to make a Mega pet, you will need four of the Neon version. Because of this, Neon and Mega Pets are a bit higher in rarity. For example, if you make a Neon Ant, they become more valuable than the normal Ant that is F Tier. That's all there is to know about trading. Overall, the big takeaway is that a pet is as valuable as you want it to be. Now, head to Adoption Island and start trading!
